Part 1 — Marketing Strategy

Positioning

"Infrastructure built right, on time — from roads to reticulation." OnPoint Civils is the capable, reliable contractor: qualified engineers, its own machinery and a track record of finished projects.

Target audiences

Audience	What they worry about	What we tell them
Property developers	Servicing stands on time and on budget	Roads, water and sewer for residential and commercial developments
Councils, government, parastatals	Compliant, capable contractors	Registrations, track record, capacity, safety
Mines & agriculture	Remote access roads, water, structures	Mobilisation to remote sites with our own plant
Consulting engineers, QS, architects	Contractors who follow specs and deliver quality	Quality control, technical competence, communication
Schools, churches, private clients	Trustworthy builders	Design-and-build, transparent progress updates

Brand voice

Professional, technical but plain-spoken, confident. Let finished work and data (scope, dimensions, timelines) do the talking.

Content pillars

1. Project showcase (40%) — progress updates, drone footage, before/during/after, completed projects
2. Capability (25%) — plant fleet, team, engineers, safety, quality control

3. Expertise (20%) — how things are built, costs, standards, lessons learned
4. Company & calls to action (15%) — milestones, hiring, "request a quote / send tender documents"

Part 3 — Daily routine

- On site every day: the site supervisor takes 5 photos and 1 short clip (progress, machinery, team at work). Shoot the same spots each week for before/after comparisons.
- Drone: fly every active site every 2 weeks from the same positions
- Permissions: get client approval before naming a project; blur sensitive details where needed
- Captions: always include project type, location (town level), scope and a milestone
- Engagement: reply to LinkedIn comments the same day; connect with every person who engages
- Friday: collect the week's media into a shared folder and plan next week's posts
